

Sophie Uluatam

The people who know Sophie see her as hard working, genuinely nice and full of intellectual curiosity. Whether it is in her studies, skiing or archery, she is dedicated and focused.

Sophie says, "Archery has taught me persistence and how to work through disappointment and adversity to achieve longstanding goals."

She plans on attending Cornell University majoring in mathematics and minor in either physics or environmental science.